GLAND THEORY IS KNOCKED COLD BY STATE ALIENIST

Criminal Court, Chicago, Aug. 15.—A very frank gland expert came into Judge John R. Caverly's court room today and did much to confound the theory advanced by the defense lawyers that it was the glands of Dicky Loebe and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., that led them along their careers of crime until they kidnaped little Bobby Franks and bashed his head in with a cold chisel.

With the most engaging frankness of any of the myriad of experts in this unusual murder case, Dr. Rollin T. Woodyatt, declared that the whole science of glands and their relation to the human mind and conduct is yet so unexplored that no one can say accurately what the glands consist of, or whether they have any effect on the conduct of an individual.

"The whole glandular system" Dr. Woodyatt said, "might well be compared to the interior of Africa before Stanley got there."

Notwithstanding that he qualified as an expert, he stuck to that assertion through two hours of direct and sarcastic cross examination.

In vain did the defense lawyers on cross examination seek to get Dr. Woodyatt to define the Pineal, Thyroid, Adrenal and Pituitary glands, and their relation to the conduct of an individual.

"I don't know," said Dr. Woodyatt, in reply to every such question.

He never cracked a smile as he said it, and always he followed it up by the observation that no one else did. He had examined thousands of glands, studied them abroad and at home for a score of years, but they are still a mystery to him, he said, and to all others.

MILITANT JUSTICE HAS HOUSE BLOWN UP BY ENEMIES

Washington, Pa., August 15 (INS).—The House of Henry Tennyson, Justice of the peace at Slovan, near here was dynamited early today destroying the rear end and throwing the Tennyson family who were sleeping in the front of the residence from their beds.

Tennyson, his wife, their son, Arthur, 18, and their daughter Ruth, five were sleeping in the house at the time of the blast.

Two other members of the family who were on their vacation slept in the rear and would probably have been killed if they had been home.

Damage to the house was estimated at $5,000.

Tennyson has been active in prosecuting bootleggers and gamblers.

ENTERTAINED SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

H. B. Powell entertained the members of his Sunday School class and their families at his beautiful farm house at Pleasant Valley yesterday afternoon and evening.

Just two hundred and nine persons took advantage of Mr. Powell's generous invitation and a highly enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent.

Baseball, trap shooting, croquet pitching and other sports were indulged in by the athletically inclined, while lots of entertainment was afforded those whose inclinations were not so strenuous.

Excellent refreshments were provided and marked the end of a perfect day, while all present were a unit in styling Mr. and Mrs. Powell perfect host and hostess.

MOONSHINERS PULLED

State Police and Philipsburg officers went down on the Centre county side at Munson Tuesday last and arrested John McCreadie, Sr., John McCreadie, Jr., and Steve Kobal on liquor law violation charges. Moonshine and home-made beer were in evidence at each place visited. Bail in the amount of $1000 each was given by the men at a hearing before Squire Hancock.

Coolidge Formally Accepts
Nomination In Speech Before
Immense Throng At Capitol

Covers Every Phase of Campaign, Speaking
For Over An Hour In Short, Terse Comment.

STANDS ON RECORD

By GEORGE E. DURNO

N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, Aug. 15.—Having formally taken up the standard of his party and charted the course of the coming campaign President Coolidge prepared today to leave Washington for the Vermont hills, where, for two weeks, he will enjoy a complete rest preparatory to engaging in one of the hardest contested fights for the Presidency in history.

Shortly afterwards, the President, accompanied only by Mrs. Coolidge, their son John, and C. Bascom Slemo, his presidential secretary will entrain for Plymouth, Vermont, home of his birth.

The President is leaving Washington with his campaign fully outlined, his issues clearly asserted. At the "official" ceremonies last night when he formally accepted the Republican Presidential nomination, Mr. Coolidge laid down in precise language his claims for continuance in office and his promises to the nation if elected.

As indicated in past utterances, the president will conduct his fight for reelection on the basic issues of governmental economy and tax reduction. He outlined and extolled the virtues of the budget system of government and he promised further reduction in taxes along the lines laid in the so-called Mellon plan.

Touching upon international policy and agricultural relief—two of the fundamental problems confronting the three political parties—President Coolidge made two promises. He announced his intention of calling another world conference for further limitation of armaments, and he promised to appoint a special commission to investigate and report to Congress on the needs of agriculture.

Entering the realm of pure politics, the President took the Democratic party to task for its efforts to make "corrupt government," the outstanding issue of the coming campaign.

In answer to the candidacy of Senator La Follette, Mr. Coolidge first "condemned" any general extension of Government ownership and control, and then took up the fundamentals of the new party.

"We are likely," he declared, "to hear a great deal of discussion about liberal thought and progressive action. It is well for the country to have liberality in thought and progress in action, but its greatest asset is common sense."

The President strongly defended the Mellon tax plan and promised to do all in his power to bring about further revision of the Revenue laws with particular reference to the much debated surtaxes. In dealing with international policy, the President laid down America's conditions of aid to Europe. He announced that the "call" of a new arms conference would be conditional upon acceptance of the Dawes' plan, which, he said, would be a test whether Europe "really desires our co-operation."

Further he again reiterated the determination of the Republican party to avoid entrance into the League of Nations.

The Republican nominee frankly recognizes the agricultural problem as one of the outstanding issues of the campaign.

Promising every possible aid to the farmer and enumerating the steps taken thus far by the Republican administration, he insisted however, that the problem was one, which, in the main, must work out itself.

Throughout his speech the Pres-

ABUSED WIFE TRIES IN FOUR WAYS TO TAKE HER LIFE

Monessen, Aug. 15 (INS).—Mrs. Tillie Dygin is in the borough jail here today and closely guarded after attempting four times to commit suicide in four different ways. Mrs. Dygin, who said she could stand her husband's abuse no longer, first attempted to die by drinking kerosene, it was knocked from her hand. She then attempted to jump from a second story window, police were called and just before she was removed she tried to cut her throat with a butcher knife. Later in her cell the woman attempted to strangle herself with a stocking. Mrs. Dygin is the mother of four children.

dent derided the protective tariff and restrictive immigration. He said in conclusion, his promised campaign would be conducted under a strict budget system with orders that no deficit be permitted, and that further "the spoils system" would not be countenanced.

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee, Ladies and Gentlemen: You bring formal notice, Mr. Chairman, of a nomination for President of the United States. Our system of nominations is the outcome of chance. It is the product of expediency. Very early in their search for a sound method of self-government the American people discovered that the only practical way to secure responsible political action was by the formation of parties, which they adopted because reason pronounced it the most promising and continued because practice found it the most successful.

Underneath and upholding political parties was, and is, the enduring principle that a true citizen of a real Republic can not exist as a segregated, unattached fragment of selfishness, but must live as a constituent part of the whole of society, in which he can secure his own welfare only as he secures the welfare of his fellow men.

Party means political cooperation, and not as an end in itself, but a means, an instrument of government. It is founded upon a great moral principle and directed with scrupulous regard for its integrity, it can not fail to sweep onward and upward, advancing always steadily and surely, a mighty constructive force, a glorious bearer of progress.

That is what the Republican party always has been and is today. In full faith that such it will continue to be, deeply conscious of the high honor of conferring the responsibility it imposes, I accept its nomination for President of the United States.

In the history of our country is recorded the public services rendered by our party for more than three score years. That is secure, I pass on to the recent past and the present.

It is easy to forget, but the impression which the condition of our country in March, 1921, made upon the people was so deep, so vivid, so alarming, that it will not soon pass away. Over two years after the armistice we were still technically in a state of war. We had no diplomatic relations with Turkey, Greece, Russia, Colombia, or Mexico, and the Far East was causing grave apprehensions. In raising and expending for war a vast amount of money a reckless extravagance had come to characterize the administration of public affairs and was all too prevalent in private life. An enormous debt had been contracted, then standing at about $24,000,000,000, of which more than $7,000,000,000 was in short-time obligations without any provision for payment. Government bonds were far below par. The high war-time taxes still burdened the people.

Demobilization and liquidation remained to be completed. Huge accounts with the railroads were unsettled. Transportation was crippled. Over $11,000,000,000 of undiluted debts were due to us from foreign countries. The whole people were suffering from a tremendous debt. Our banks were filled with frozen assets, and everywhere acute financial distress existed. Interest was high. Capital was scarce. Approximately 5,000,000 people were without employment. No adequate provision had been made for the relief of the disabled veterans and their dependents. There was an avalanche of war-worn peoples and suddenly cheapened merchandise impending upon us from foreign lands. The great power were still engaged in burdening their people by building competitive armaments.

At Peace With the World
This staggering array indicates some of the major problems of this administration. There have been more peace-making and constructive accomplishments than since March, 1921. We have ratified separate treaties of world-wide importance with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Colombia, and Mexico. Forty-two other treaties are now awaiting its action. Friendly intercourse has been resumed with Turkey and Greece, and we have established our rights and insured peace in the Far East and the Pacific Ocean. Our foreign relations have been handled with a technical skill and a broad statesmanship which is seldom, if ever, surpassed.

Reduces Costs of Government

Two Billion
In the domain of finances a budget system was promptly enacted and put into operation, resulting in tremendous savings. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, our expenditures were $5,538,000,000, and our surplus was $86,000,000. For the year just closed our expenditures were $2,472,000,000, and our surplus exceeded $500,000,000. This was a reduction in the annual cost of government of $2,041,000,000. The public debt now stands at about $21,250,000,000, which is a reduction in three years of $2,750,000,000 and means that a grand saving in interest of more than $20,000,000. The $7,000,000,000 of short-time obligations have all been quietly refunded or paid. The internal revenue taxes have been reduced twice, and many of them repealed, so that during the present fiscal year the total receipts will show a saving of $1,000,000,000 in the course of 62 years. These settlements are not only stupendous financial transactions, but demonstrations of the most profound nature of international good faith and the dominion over international relations of moral power. The finances of this Nation have been managed with a genius and a success unmatched since the days of Hamilton.

Industry Revived

The Army and Navy have been reduced to a low peace-time basis, and surplus materials and supplies converted into cash. Hundreds of millions of accounts have been settled with the railroads, which have been financed without any public expense so that they could adequately serve the greatest peace-time commerce ever moved without a shortage of cars. A great revival of industry took place, which is now spreading to agriculture. Complaints of unemployment have ceased, wages have increased, and the whole country is now enjoying a high standard of living. The banks of our country, as a whole, show a high percentage of liquid assets.

Most generous laws for the relief of disabled veterans have been enacted, and the Veterans' Bureau established. More than 71,000 men and women have been rehabilitated, of whom over 38,000 are earning more than they earned before the war. Compensation is being paid to nearly half a million at the rate of about $100,000,000 a year, which will be increased about $30,000,000 under legislation recently passed. Forty million dollars have been provided for hospital facilities, and under a new law hospitals have been opened to all the veterans of all wars, regardless of the time or cause of their disability. No government ever provided so generously for those disabled by service in time of war.

America Must Be Kept American
To preserve American standards for all our inhabitants, whether they are the descendants of former generations residing here or the most recent arrivals, restrictive immigration laws were passed. I should have preferred to continue the policy of Japanese exclusion by some method less likely to offend the sensibilities of the Japanese people. I did what I could to minimize any harm that might arise. But the law has been passed and approved, and the incident is closed. We must seek by some means besides immigration to demonstrate the friendship and respect which we feel for the Japanese nation.

Restricted immigration is not an offensive, but a purely defensive action. It is not adopted in criticism of others in the slightest degree, but solely for the purpose of protecting ourselves. We cast no aspersions on any race or creed, but we must remember that

O'Neill refused to discuss the vicious attack that had been made upon him, but county authorities immediately started an investigation.

The person who shot O'Neill evidently desired to maim rather than kill him, because an expert marksman apparently fired the shots which mangled parts of his body.

FIRE ALARM SOUNDED
FOR BURNING CAR
IN SMITHY

A slight fire at the blacksmith shop of Boyd Crissman, in the alley between Second and Third streets, called the fire alarm at two-thirty this afternoon.

Mrs. Crissman was making some repairs to his car, and starting the engine, stepped out of the shop for a little time. In some manner the oil in and round the engine became ignited and was blazing merrily when the alarm from box 17 was turned in.

Paul Raymond driving one of the Kurtz Storage Company's trucks was Johnny-on-the-spot with a Pyrene extinguisher putting out the fire before the firemen arrived. Damage to the car was slight.

Mrs. Lloyd Robb, Mrs. Clair Hench barger, Miss Dorothy and Larue Robb Miss Hazel Shaffner have gone to Buffalo for a two weeks visit with Mrs. and Mrs. George Feizer. Mrs. B. E. McDavid, of Kentucky, is visiting Mrs. Marvin Bowes at present.

BURG TEAM AGAIN
TASTES DEFEAT AT
HANDS OF LOCALS

Manager Saul Robinson took his "world beating" C. & C. League team over to Philipsburg yesterday afternoon and the boys kicked their Center county brethren in the shins for a 11 to 5 victory in a game featured by hard hitting and snappy baseball by both teams.

"We heard such awful tales about 'the enemy' after the game played at the Burg last week that we decided to go over to this game and see just how Philipsburgers did perform when their team was getting a drubbing. We found, too, that while they didn't like it a bit, they were pretty good sports about it at that."

They rooted loud and long for their favorites up to and including the fourth inning, but after that we never heard Scotty's horn toot once.

The umpiring was done by O'Neill and Hicks and was the best we have seen in this League this season. Theumps "called them as they saw them" and there wasn't even a single kick on their work.

Jack McCabe was present but he was nursing a couple of pencil gulls on his strong right hand and his "telephone wires" down.

It was a bad day for pitchers as each side had to use two twirlers. Cowdick started for our side, but was derailed by Manager Robinson in the fourth. Rex Fauver replaced Cowdick and Philipsburg never scored another run.

Hancock started for Philipsburg, but was forced to give way to a port sided flinger from Winburne, who also got lambasted very neatly during the time he toiled in the box.

Clearfield batters hammered out nineteen hits for a total of twenty-nine bases. Shaulis led with the war club and cracked out a triple and three. (Continued from Page Seven)

PERRY ROWLES ENDS
LIFE BY DRINKING
CARBOLIC ACID

Spanish-American War
Veteran, After Period of Dissipation, Drinks
Fatal Potion At Home.

FOUND YESTERDAY

Perry W. Rowles, a resident of this section practically all his life, committed suicide at his home on Mt. Joy road, just beyond the concrete bridge over Moose Creek, some time on Wednesday last by drinking carbolic acid.

It is said that Rowles had been drinking heavily the past couple of weeks, which resulted in domestic difficulties at his home. He was alone in the house at the time he committed the rash act. He was seen about the house Wednesday but when he did not appear yesterday neighbors went into the house and found him lying on his bed on the second floor dead with the empty acid bottle by his side.

Rowles, who was about 55 years of age, was a Spanish-American War veteran, and came to Clearfield from Grampan more than twenty-years ago. He is survived by a widow. One brother, W. G. Rowles also resides here.

Tourist Shoots Wife

Into Car, Drives Away

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 15 (INS).—Two posers early today were in hot pursuit of a tourist who apparently killed his wife and one of his children a few miles south of Hichita, on the Robertson highway late yesterday. The bodies tumbled into his car and sped away.

The man, woman and two children were standing beside his car when suddenly the man drew a pistol, pointed it at his wife's breast and fired. She fell, apparently dead, into the road.

He then thumbed the revolver upon one of the children, a girl, who crumpled at his feet. The other child witnessing the tragedy, fled, and escaped in a rain of bullets.

A WISE OLD OWL IN TOWN

City Clerk C. E. Oberheim of Lock Haven, who is also City Editor of the Lock Haven Express, was a Clearfield visitor today and while here introduced and made himself solid with Chief of Police McMullin and other Department of Safety officials.

Oberheim said it has long been his custom to look the Chief of Police up as soon as he lands in a strange town, because he finds it much more pleasant to hunt up the Chief than have the police hunt you up. Besides you never know what might happen these days, even to a fellow too old to go all the gait.

Oberheim says he is stuck on Clearfield and thinks that outcrop of Lock Haven it is the finest and best town in the West Branch valley. We agree with him in that, except that we make no exception as to Lock Haven.

COOLIDGE ACCEPTS NOMINATION

Every object of our institutions of society and government will fail unless America be kept American.

Tariff Benefits

By means of a protective tariff we saved American agriculture, labor and industry from the menace of having through the dumping on it of a good of foreign products. Under this wise policy we saw an economic revival, and our people as a whole, in marked distinction from sufferers from the financial distress and depression of other lands, have come into an area of prosperity and plenty. As a source of revenue the tariff surpassed all expectations in producing an annual return of the unprecedented sum of about $550,000,000. A fiscal policy which places a large and much needed revenue in the public treasury, while stimulating business to a condition of abounding prosperity, defends itself against any criticism. Its merits are demonstrated by its results. We have protected our own inhabitants from the economic disaster of an invasion of too many foreign people or too much foreign merchandise.

Results of Arms Conference

The people have never come to a full realization of the importance of the Washington Conference. It produced the one effective agreement among the great powers in all the history of civilization for relieving the people of the earth from the enormous burden of maintaining competitive naval armaments. I do not believe any conference ever did more to promote the peace of the world. I am perfectly sure that none ever did so much to reduce the cost of government. By removing causes of irritation, in which lay the seeds of war in the Far East, our own country received incalculable benefits. Only when that was done could disarmament follow. What had always before failed, then, became a success. A policy was adopted which was more than revolutionary. It was sublime. It demonstrated at last that peace and good will are not vain illusions, but actual realities. The credit for the inception of this epoch-making policy, and for its practical conclusion, is due to the initiative of American statesmanship.

These are some of the larger aspects, though very incompletely depicted, of what this administration has been doing to promote the welfare of the American people. A survey of the economic condition of our country, the industrial peace which prevails, the mighty influence which our moral power exerts throughout the world, all testify that it has not been without success.

Honest Endeavors

There are those who would disregard all this for an undertaking to convince themselves and others that the chief issue of this campaign is honest government. In all my studies of political history I cannot recall an administration which was desirous of a dishonest and corrupt government that, for the purpose of checking extravagance, even undertook to introduce a budget system, to cut down taxes, to purge the pay rolls, to make enormous reductions in the public debt, and to lay firmer foundations for the peace of the world. That is not the way of dishonesty. The Government is sound, but individuals charged with wrongdoing are being prosecuted. The people of this country hate corruption,

They know my position. They know the law will be enforced.

Wherever there have been suspicions of guilt, involving members of any party, I have caused them to be investigated, and presentation made to the grand jury. If the evidence warranted, those suspected of crime have been indicted, and without favor, but without malice, they will be tried on the charges returned against them. Wherever it has appeared that the property of the Government has been illegally transferred and held, action has been brought for its recovery and will be pursued to a final judgment. No Government was ever able to prevent altogether the commission of crime, but this Government, under my direction, is doing the best it can to detect and punish any and all wrongdoing. The laws of the land are being, and will continue to be, enforced. I propose to use every possible effort to resist corruption in office. The American Government must be clean.

Individual Enterprise

Many principles exist which I have tried to represent and propose to support. I believe in the American Constitution. I favor the American system of individual enterprise, and I am opposed to any general extension of Government ownership and control. I believe not only in advocating economy in public expenditure, but in its practical application and actual accomplishment. I believe in a reduction and reform of taxation, and shall continue my efforts in that direction. I am in favor of protection. I favor the Permanent Court and further limitation of armaments. I am opposed to aggressive war. I shall avoid involving ourselves in the political controversies of Europe, but I shall do what I can to encourage American citizens and resources to assist in restoring Europe, with the sympathetic support of our Government. I want agriculture and industry on a sound basis of prosperity and equality. I shall continue to strive for the economic, moral, and spiritual welfare of my country. American citizens will decide in the coming election whether these accomplishments and these principles have their approval and support.

Home Comes First

The domestic affairs of our country appear to me to be by far the chief concern. From that source comes our strength. The home market consumes nearly all of our production. Within our own boundaries will be determined to a very large degree the economic welfare and the moral worth of the American people. These are plain facts, but there are others equally plain.

America, under Providence, has come to be a Nation of great responsibility. It exists as one of the family of nations. We can not be isolated. Other peoples exist all about us. Their actions affect us, and our actions affect them, whether we will or no. Their financial condition is not and can not be entirely separated from our financial condition. But the final determination of our relationship to other countries rises into a higher realm. We believe in the brotherhood of man, because we believe in the fatherhood of God. That is our justification for freedom and equality. We believe in the law of service, which teaches us that we can improve ourselves only by helping others. We know that these principles are applicable alike to our domestic and our foreign relations. We can not live unto ourselves alone.

Foreign Policy

The foreign policy of America can best be described by one word—peace. Our actions have always proclaimed our peaceful desires, but never more evidently than now. We covet no territory; we support no threatening military army; we harbor no hostile intent. We have pursued, are pursuing, and shall continue to pursue with untiring devotion the cause of peace.

These ideals we have put into practical application. We have sought to promote peace not only by word, but by appropriate action. We have been unwilling to surrender our independence. We have refused to ratify the covenant of the League of Nations. But we have cooperated with it to suppress the narcotic trade and promote public health. We have every desire to help, but the time, the place and the method must be left to our own determination. Under our Constitution we cannot forgo the right of the President on the Congress to determine future problems when they arise. We must necessarily proceed upon the principle of our present cooperation without future entanglements.

As peace means fundamentally a reign of law, we propose to become a member of the Permanent Court of International Justice. Such action would do much to indicate our determination to restrain the rule of force and solidify and sustain the rule of reason among nations.

The Work of Dawes

We have observed with sympathy the continuing difficulties of Europe. We have desired to assist whenever we could do so effectively. Late in December, 1922, the Secretary of State announced the American plan, which was finally adopted. Under it the Reparations Commission appointed a committee of experts of which three were Americans, one of whom, Charles G. Dawes, was chosen chairman. A report has been made which received world-wide approbation and has been accepted in principle by the Governments interested. At a conference of Prime Ministers held to work out the details of putting this plan into operation, I directed the attendance of Ambassador Kellogg, assisted by Colonel Logan, to represent our Government. Throughout all this course of events we helped in the only way we could help.

I believe the substance of the plan ought to be adopted. By that test will be revealed whether Europe really desires our cooperation. If Europe should agree to this proposal then a private loan should be made by our citizens to Germany for the financial support of this undertaking. The governments interested should make necessary concessions for the security of such a loan. In my opinion such action, by stabilizing Europe, would result in improving our own economic condition. But beyond that it is the duty of our people who have the resources to use them for the relief of war-stricken nations and the improvement of world conditions.

Further Limitations of Arms

As this is written, reports indicate that the plan of General Dawes will be adopted, and that the effort of America has made a tremendous contribution to the welfare, security, and peace of the world. But I await the event. When the reparations plan is in operation, I shall deem it an appropriate time to approach the great powers with a proposal for another conference for a further limitation of armaments and for devising plans for a codification of international laws. I personally should favor entering into covenants for the purpose of outlawing aggressive war by any practical means. Our country has always been against aggressive war and for permanent peace. Those who are working out detailed plans to present such a policy for consideration have my entire sympathy. I trust that never again will the women of this Nation be called on to sacrifice their loved ones to the terrible scourge of war.

We have constantly striven to come to more complete understandings and improve our relations with Latin America. At their request we have undertaken to compose their difficulties. We helped the Government of Mexico protect itself against domestic violence. There is little doubt that in extending this assistance and the moral support which it indicated we helped save the people of Mexico from the terrors of another revolution. We also indicated the adoption of a policy

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

July is usually considered to be the warmest month of the year all over the northern Hemisphere, and its heat is an old Roman superstition which has left its mark on our own.

Warm weather is not always too healthy, and July in Rome was frequently a month of epidemics and high mortality. The Romans connected this with the rising and setting of the star Canicula—the Little Dog—in coincidence with the sun, and talked of the period from July 3 to August 11 as the Dog Days.

The Little Dog no longer rises with the sun during this period, but the name of the Dog Days and something of their old sinister reputation still persist.

Winfield B. Morgan, divorce clerk in Baltimore, has made the discovery that brunettes hasten to the court for release from marital bonds, while the blonds stay on and endure their husbands with what patience they can command. This is not opinion but statistical evidence supplied by the 750 divorce cases that have come into the Baltimore courts in the last two months. Clerk Morgan has tabulated these cases and finds that 80 per cent of them were brunettes. The remaining 20 per cent were not all blonds. He reaches the conclusion, therefore, that by a big majority it is the girl with the black and brown hair who heads for the divorce court at the first sign of trouble, while the girls of all the bright and light shades are slower to wrath and more inclined to mercy.

Do you remember the Great Staked Plains, that barren portion of Texas which the school books of a few decades ago told about? The staked plains were uninhabitable and never would amount to anything, said the travelers who had crossed a portion of them. Today the great staked plains are growing the best cotton produced anywhere in the world. During the last eighteen years there has only been one crop failure in that district. Human ingenuity has conquered an inhospitable land and it has just begun its work of reclamation. The time will come when the Sahara will be a garden plot.

of making it worth while for a government to conduct itself as to merit recognition. We have secured a written agreement with Mexico to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce to replace one which was canceled as long ago as 1921, and joint commissions will shortly meet to adjust all American claims against that country.

Religious Prejudices
The Federal Government ought to be, and is, solicitous for the welfare of every one of its inhabitants, every one of its business activities, whether they be small or great. This is one of the common interests. There should be no favorites and no outcasts; no race or religious prejudices in government. America opposes special privilege for anybody, and favors equal opportunity for everybody. It has adopted these principles because they are the logical conclusions of our ideals of organization, cooperation, and diversity. Moreover, we believe they are to our national welfare. We oppose the artificial supports of privilege and monopoly because they are both unjust and uneconomic. They are not. They do not work. No sound and enduring Government or prosperity can rest upon anything but the sure foundations of equal opportunity and justice for all.

Protection
It is in accordance with these principles that our Government seeks by appropriate legislation to promote the financial welfare of all the different groups that form our great economic structure. The Republican Party supports the policy of protection as a broad principle good alike for producer and consumer, because it knows that no other means to prevent the lowering of the standards of pay and living for the American wage earner has been devised. Were such protection removed, the result would be felt at every fireside in the land. Our industry would languish, factories would close, commerce and transportation would be paralyzed, financial distress and economic depression would reach over the whole country. Before we are carried away with any visionary expectation of promoting the public welfare by a general avalanche of cheap goods from foreign sources, imported under a system which, whatever it may be called, is in reality free trade, it will be well first to count the cost and realize just what such a proposal really means.

I am for protection because it maintains American standards of living and of business, for agriculture, industry, and labor. I am in favor of the elastic provisions of our tariff law. I propose to administer them, not politically, but judicially. As the business of the world becomes stabilized, without throwing all our economic system into confusion, we can raise or lower specific schedules to meet the requirements of a scientific adjustment.

Agriculture
I confess that my inheritance and personal experience have bred in me a keen interest in the welfare of agriculture. Perhaps the very hardships of those who have been engaged in it have encountered have caused it to be the chief source of that independence and stalwart citizenship which has contributed so lavishly to the glory of American life. It constitutes an element in our Nation of such importance as to be worthy of the utmost solicitude and concern. One of our first thoughts in 1921 was for its relief and revival. As many as 15 laws have been passed to assist the support of this fundamental industry. Through the War Finance Corporation it has been extended credits of between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000. In addition to this, government activity provided about $50,000,000 from private sources for the relief of the cattle industry, and in the early spring of this year a $10,000,000 corporation was formed, which it was estimated could furnish $100,000,000 for diversification and financial relief in the Northwest. The Intermediate Credit Banks have loaned over $35,000,000 to individuals and cooperative marketing associations, which assisted directly and indirectly over 500,000 farmers.

Notwithstanding all this, agriculture was subjected to an era of most serious depression. Several of its great staples like cotton, cattle, hogs, corn, and wheat, suffered from low prices, due to overproduction, unbalanced conditions between costs and sale prices in agriculture, industry, and labor, and the disorganization of the markets of the world. But for the enormous buying power behind the high wages of industry put behind the market for American food products, especially meat, the agricultural regions would have experienced even a far more severe financial crisis. Due to a change in the world supply, prices of products have begun to improve, even so far as to increase land values. The Government rendered a great deal of assistance and private enterprise cooperated, but the fundamental remedy was provided, as it always must be provided, not so much through the enactment of legislative laws as through the working out of economic laws. Because the farmers have thoroughly realized this, they have on the whole opposed price fixing by legislation. While maintaining a position, they have seen a partial relief come in a natural way, as it was bound to come.

We now need in agriculture more

The Republican platform recognizes that agriculture should be on a basis of economic equality with other industries. This is easy to say, but the farmers themselves and their advisers have never been able to agree on a plan to provide it by law. Now that nature and economic law have given some temporary relief, I propose, therefore, to appoint a committee to investigate and report measures to the Congress in December that may help secure this result which are all desire. I want profitable agriculture established permanently. I want to see the dollar of the farmer always purchase as much as any other dollar. A wise, skilled, and unselfish leadership can do more than anything else to rescue agriculture. The farmer who has the tact and the courage necessary for management, and who has the fidelity to refuse political preferment and business opportunity. There are such leaders. In the sacrifices they make to serve the farmer lies the greatest hope for his salvation.

Labor
Those who toil have always profited from Republican control of Government. Under the policy of protection and restrictive immigration no deflation of wages has occurred. While the cost of living has gone down, wages have advanced. The 12-hour day and the 7-day week have practically been abolished. The uninterrupted operation of public utilities with mutual satisfaction and legally established methods of adjusting labor questions have been sought. Collective bargaining and voluntary arbitration have been encouraged. Republican rule has raised the wage earner to a higher standard than he ever occupied before anywhere in the world.

Thrift
The war left us with many evils. One result was the tremendous wastage of wealth. The people of this country were required to re-create nearly one-fifth of our national resources. All of this enormous sum has to be earned. When so large a part of the work of 300 years is swept away, it is not easily recovered. It takes all the tremendous energy of men, of enterprise, of the vast properties represented by invested capital and of material working through and years, to repair the damage and re-

MORAL STANDARDS

Some people take a discouraged view about moral standards as they exist now. They feel that there has been in recent years, particularly since the World War, a marked decline. They point to the great number of people who take marriage vows very lightly, to the free use of liquor and prevalence of bootlegging, to the loose conduct among young people, and so on.

Yet in certain respects there seems a decided improvement. Business morals have reached a higher standard. The practices that were common and followed by the majority of business men 20 years ago, would not be tolerated today. Take the field of politics also. Bribery of voters was once extremely common, but now it is unusual.

The truth probably is that years ago many people lived a pretty straight life, not because they had strong principles against lax conduct, but because there was nothing else to do. In the old fashioned country town, for instance, there was little to do but attend church. The young people became impregnated with strict ideas of morals. They were not under such temptation, and many did right just because there was not much chance to do wrong.

Today, with the growth of big cities, the multiplication of amusements both helpful and harmful, the temptations to go wrong have become far more compelling. If the same opportunities had been offered the youth of a previous generation, they would probably have done about the same things. The world has not slipped backward, but people have come nearer finding their true moral level.

Now the community must get busy and promote those strong and helpful measures that will offset the greater temptations of this era. Give people plenty of wholesome diversions, and not so many of them will go astray.

THE SUICIDE RATE

Referring to the number of recorded suicides in this country during the past year, the Save-a-Life League says that "if any disease caused so many deaths there would be no small uprising to devise means for its suppression."

There were 12,948 reported suicides in 1923. The actual total is estimated as nearer 16,000. One-third of the known suicides were women. Another 4,000 of them were children between the ages of 5 and 18 years. There was no alarming advance in the suicide rate among men.

What is wrong? The Save-a-Life League suggests that physical collapse and nervous breakdowns are responsible for many of the women suicides. An endless social whirl which leaves no time for mental rest or spiritual recreation, to say nothing of needed physical rest, brings on such collapse. It suggests also that there is too little reverence for life, and too little willingness to stick to a worthy purpose in spite of discouragement and disappointment.

Whatever the reasons for it, the situation remains serious and should be given thoughtful study by parents and educators. The person who quits a game because the victory doesn't seem to be coming his way is considered a poor sport.

But the problem is deeper than this and involves more than a sportsmanlike attitude toward the game of life. This age does need to take more time for peace and quiet, for the development of poise, and it needs more wisdom and sanity for the proper use of its leisure time and for true enjoyment of its wealth of mechanical conveniences. Teaching and preaching these things, setting the example of steadfastness in good will and reverence for human life are essential if the suicide rate is to begin going down instead of continuing its hideous upward climb.

place the values destroyed by war. The only method by which we can make up this loss is by saving a part of what we produce each year. It will make little difference how much we raise on the farm, or how much we turn out in the mill, if it is all used up or all the proceeds are expended. We can only be relieved of our present private and public burdens by refraining from private and public extravagance. We must resist private and public outlays for which there is no commensurate return. This is common sense. Whatever anybody may claim or say, there is no other method by which the people can rid themselves of their financial burdens.

It is for that reason that the present administration has made every possible effort to cut down the expenses of government. The country needs more sense of its ability to restore itself. The costs of the Government are all assessed on the people. This means that the farmer is doomed to provide a certain amount of money out of the sale of his produce, no matter how low the price, to pay his taxes. The manufacturer, the professional man, the clerk and the wage earner, all pay the same. The wage earner, often at a higher rate when compared with his earnings, makes his contribution, perhaps not directly, but indirectly, in the advanced cost of everything he buys. The expenses of Government are reached everywhere. Taxes take from everyone a part of his earnings, and force everyone to work for a certain part of his time for the Government.

Why Economy?

When we come to realize that the yearly expenses of all the Government in this country have reached the stupendous sum of about $7,500,000,000, we get some idea of what it means. Of this amount about $3,500,000,000 is needed by the National Government, and the remainder by local governments. Such a sum is difficult to comprehend. It represents all the pay of 5,000,000 wage earners receiving $5 a day, working 300 days in the year. If the Government should add on $100,000,000 of expense, it would represent four days more work of these wage earners. What are such expenses for? They are such as to cut down public expense.

I want the people of America to be able to work less for the Government and more for themselves. I want them to have the rewards of their own industry. That is the chief meaning of freedom. Until we can establish this condition under which the earnings of the people can be kept by the people, we are bound to suffer a very distinct curtailment of our liberty.

These results are not fanciful, they are not imaginary; they are grimy actual and real, reaching into every household in the land. They take from each home annually an average of over $300. And taxes must be paid. They are not a voluntary contribution to be met out of surplus earnings. They are a stern necessity. They come first. It is only out of what is left after they are paid that the necessities of food, clothing and shelter can be provided, the comforts of home secured, or the yearnings of the soul for a broader and more abundant life gratified. When the Government effects a new economy, it means every body a life pension with which to raise the standard of existence. It increases the value of everybody's property and raises the scale of everybody's wages. One of the greatest favors that can be bestowed upon the American people is economy in government.

Because of my belief in these principles, I favor economy that the taxes of everybody may be reduced. Much has already been done. The bill which I signed will save the people about $1,000,000 each day. I want further tax reduction and more tax reform. The raising of the revenue required to conduct our Government is intimately connected with our economic welfare. If it is done by wise and just laws, the burden will be the most easily borne. But if the method of taxation is not sound, disaster will follow, reaching even to financial parity.

On first thought, it should be to maintain unimpaired the activity of agriculture and industry. That tax is theoretically best which interferes least with business. Every student knows that excessive high rates defeat their own purpose. They dry up that source of revenue and leave those paying lower rates to furnish all taxes. High rates tend to paralyze business. For these reasons I am opposed to excess-profits taxes and high surtaxes. When the revenue bill of 1921 was passed, abolishing excess profits and greatly reducing high surtaxes, it was immediately followed by a revival in business and an increase in the number of large incomes, so that the Government received nearly $100,000,000 the straight path of justice.

Economy should be practiced scrupulously in the conduct of a national campaign. I know it is difficult to distinguish between real service to the people and mere wastefulness. Costs have increased by doubling of the electorate, rendering close calculation impossible.

Nevertheless, I can perceive no reason why one budget system should not be beneficial in a campaign, as it has proved to be in government. It is to be tested by our committee. There should be no relaxing of resolute endeavor to keep our elections clean, honest and free from taint of any kind. Only the closest scrutiny of both the sources of contributions and the character of expenditures can accomplish this laudable purpose.

For the first time this has been provided for the coming campaign. Thus the appointment of a competent Senate committee vested with ample authority. The Republican national chairman has already volunteered to file sworn reports of both income and outgo, in full detail, at such regular intervals as the committee may deem serviceable and practicable.

The statutes provide for publication of the names of contributors and of amounts contributed. But a deficit at the end of a campaign in past defeats has found that the people as a whole have paid the taxes. We should, therefore, have a system of taxation under which the people as a whole are most likely to be prosperous. Our country will be better off if, disregarding those who appeal to jealousy and envy, it follows in taxation and all else one other requirement, that no individual, or group of individuals, may expect any governmental favors in return for party assistance. Whatever anyone gives must be received on no other basis.

For the first time, after having opportunity fully to organize, the women of the Nation are making the new force which they represent directly to bear on our political affairs. I know that the influence of womanhood will guard the home, which is the citadel of the Nation. I know it will be a protector of childhood. I know it will be on the side of humanity. I welcome it as a great instrument of mercy and a mighty agency of peace. I want every woman to vote.

While we are discussing some of the problems of the day, some of the changes we propose to meet temporary conditions, it is also well to remember that it is equally necessary to support our fundamental institutions. We believe in our method of constitutional government and the integrity of the legislative, judicial, and executive departments. We believe that our liberties and our rights are best preserved, not through political, but through judicial action. The Constitution is the sole source and guaranty of national freedom. We believe that the safest place to declare and interpret the Constitution which the people have made is in the Supreme Court of the United States.

We believe the people of the Nation should continue to own the property and to conduct the business of the Nation. We harbor no delusions about it. We know that manhood is finite, and will continue as under any system. But that system is best which gives the individual the largest freedom of action, and the largest opportunity for honorable accomplishment. Such a system does not tend to the concentration of wealth but to the diffusion of wealth. Under our institutions there is no limitation on the aspirations a mother may have for their children. That system is best which gives the country would not be a land of opportunity. America would not be America, if the people were shackled with government monopolies.

Under our institutions success is the rule and failure is the exception. We have no better example of this than the enormous progress which is being made by the Negro race. To some of its individuals it may seem slow, tedious, and unsatisfactory, but viewed as a whole it has been a demonstration of their patriotism and their worth. They are doing a great work in the land, and are entitled to the protection of the Constitution and the law. It is a satisfaction to observe that the crime of lynching, of which they have been so often the victims, has been greatly diminished, and I trust that any further continuation of this national shame may be prevented by law. As a plain matter of expediency the white man can not be protected unless the black man is protected, and as a plain matter of right law and justice is justice for everybody.

and provided by legislation for its enforcement. It is the duty of the citizen to observe the law, and the duty of the Executive to enforce it. I propose to do my duty as best I can.

Our different States have had different standards; or no standards at all, for child labor. The Congress should have authority to provide uniform law applicable to the whole Nation which will protect childhood. Over country can not afford to let anyone live off the earnings of its youth of tender years. Their places are not in the factory, but in the school, that the men and women of tomorrow may reach a higher state of existence and the Nation a higher standard of citizenship.

I am in favor of national defense, not merely as an abstract state of mind, but as a concrete mode of action. I favor not merely talking about it, but doing something about it. I do not want the safety of my country to be imperiled in its domestic or foreign relations by any failure to be ready to preserve order or to repel attack. But I propose to work for voluntary observance of law and mutual covenants of peace.

The Government of the United States represents the republic. It is its business to protect and advance the general welfare. It expects everyone to do his duty. It must be impartial, but it ought to be humane. It wants to establish justice, equity, and mercy. It desires to see adequate returns both for capital invested and for work done. It believes in protecting health and in cherishing education. It is opposed to the domination of either wealth or organized minorities and is committed to the free rule of all the people.

Common Sense
We are likely to hear a great deal of discussion about liberal thought and progressive action. It is well for the country to have liberality in thought and progress in action, but its greatest asset is common sense. In the commonplace things of life lies

It Started Something

"Your medicine is the talk of the town since pulling me from the grave. I have told dozens about it, and I know of at least two who are now taking May's Wonderful Remedy, all with good results. I never saw anything like it. One man who had been operated on for gall stones and had them come back, took it, and now his symptoms are all gone now and he swears he is cured." This is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the intestinal juices to cause practical stomach, and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One who has been operated on for gall stones, and who has had them come back, took it, and now his symptoms are all gone now and he swears he is cured.

the strength of the Nation. It is not in brilliant conceptions and strokes of genius that we shall find the chief chance of our country, but in the home, in the school, and in religion. America will continue to defend these things. Every evil force that seeks to desecrate or destroy them will find that a higher Power has endowed this people with an inherent spirit of resistance. The people know the difference between pretense and reality. They want to be told the truth. They want to be trusted. They want a chance to work out their own material and spiritual salvation. The people want a government of common sense. These, Mr. Chairman, are some of the beliefs which I hold, some of the principles which I propose to support. Because I am convinced that they are true, because I am satisfied that they are sound, I submit them with abiding faith to the judgment of the American people.

Questions Asked by Stock Raisers

Feeding Problem Blanks Sent to Department of Agriculture.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The recent work of the United States Department of Agriculture and co-operating states to improve the methods of feeding live stock has stimulated interest in all parts of the country and feeding problem blanks sent to many farmers have been filled out and sent in for replies. A survey made last summer showed that a large percentage of stock raisers and feeders have many puzzling problems and that most of them are searching for better and more economical rations.

Wide Range of Problems.
A few of the early inquiries received as a result of this new service offered to farmers show a wide range of problems from scattered states. A Maryland farmer asked for good rations for brood sows and growing pigs. Although he had been keeping hogs for eight years, his corn was practically the only feed used. The department's reply pointed out the principles of successful swine feeding and called attention to the need for good pastures, mineral mixtures, and a well-balanced grain ration. A Kentucky cattle feeder submitted the rations he had been using for finishing for both the spring and fall markets and received suggestions which should save him money the coming year.

Among Other Problems.
Among the other problems the department has helped to solve are the making of dairy rations where certain feeds commonly used are not available; the addition of more desirable crops in the farm rotation; feeding brood pigs to be sold for breeding purposes; the saving of grain by use of other roughages; and many more. Requests for assistance have come from Alabama, Colorado, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, South Carolina, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Sound Suggestions for Building Cattle Barns

Breeders and feeders of beef cattle will find in a new Farmers' Bulletin, "Beef Cattle Barns," just published by the United States Department of Agriculture, suggestions of value regarding the right types of barns for various conditions, the location, arrangement, construction and ventilation. Several plans and alternate plans are given for general-purpose barns, feeding barns, and barns for housing breeding herds. Consideration is given to the requirements in severe climates and in regions where less protection is needed from the elements. The bulletin contains 16 drawings showing elevations, floor plans and cross sections. Emphasis is placed on the desirability of economizing as much as possible whenever added cost will increase the overhead with little advantage in convenience, durability or comfort of the animals.

Copies of the bulletin, which is No. 1250, may be obtained by writing to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, as long as the supply lasts.

Meat Scrap for Laying Hens of Big Importance

Rations for laying hens should contain approximately 12 per cent meat scrap for efficient egg production is brought out by tests at the Ohio station. This amount of meat scrap has decreased the cost of feed more than 20 per cent and increased the egg production more than 50 per cent, as compared with a ration containing only 2 per cent of meat scrap. This was true of both the heavy and light breeds of poultry.

A ration in which the grain mixture was made up of three parts corn, one part wheat and the dry mash mixture of two parts, by weight, ground corn, one part bran and two parts meat scrap, has proven satisfactory. The birds consumed twice as much grain as mash.

Question of Hen House Location Is Important

The question of where to locate the poultry houses and yards is one that should be given careful consideration before one begins the expenditure of perfectly good money. One piece of advice which will apply to all cases alike is this: Never locate the houses and yards on a damp, poorly drained plot of ground, on which shade trees, grass and clover crops do not thrive, unless it presents good opportunities for drainage and improvement.

Other conditions being favorable, locate the houses and yards where they will be convenient to the house and other buildings, so that the care of the poultry may be made a part of the regular chores of the farm.

"Clover and Prosperity" as National Farm Slogan

Clover is often regarded as the farm index. "Clover and prosperity" might well be a national farm slogan. And yet there are countless thousands of farms in the country today on which it is impossible to grow clover.

Two years ago clover could not have been grown on the land at the Maryland experiment field, Leonardtown. Lime and complete fertilizer have produced the finest stand of crimson clover imaginable.

The American Legion

WORK "UNDER FIRE" FOR NEW MEMBERS

Twelve hundred new members secured in the setting of the sun was the achievement of Oklahoma American Legionnaires recently in a membership drive. Their drive was intensive and along the following lines: Assembly was begun at 8 a. m. At 9:30 Legionnaires were folding their napkins after a breakfast served by the Auxiliary at the Legion home. At 7 the workers went forward into battle amidst the patter of real machine guns and the roar of real cannons. All through the day the machine guns were in operation. Each hour the fire whistle sounded, assembly call was blown and a bomb hurled into the skies, to explode 200 feet above the earth.

On the walls at "General Headquarters" a chart was placed containing a series of trenches. Each man's name was listed in the first trench and his status and line of advance during the day noted by a red thumb tack. When the objective was attained by any Legionnaire he was crowned with an Indian headgear and thrown in as a reinforcement in the salient where the line was weaker. By this plan every Legionnaire's valor under fire was recorded.

Cars were commandeered to seek out prospects living in the country where many an ex-service man was made a Legionnaire by the barter principle of exchange—chickens, eggs and pork in many instances being accepted in lieu of the necessary three bucks membership dues.

Police patrols and fire carts were pressed into service to "bring in" the handcuffed prisoners.

The Legion band and bugle corps played on the streets during the day.

Airplanes were used in distributing literature. One thousand theater tickets were thrown from high buildings.

Booths were maintained at prominent corners where many a thirsting ex-service man was near-beered and prezeized into the Legion.

Reports of the progress of the drive were radio-broadcast throughout the day.

NEXT BIG FIGHTS

"THE Universal Service Law will be the next big fight of the Legion," was the prophecy of John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, at a dinner given in his honor at Spokane, Wash., recently. The commander of the Legion declared: "Within three years we will have as big a fight on for this measure as we have had for the adjusted compensation. There will be other fights," the fighting commander of the Legion emphasized. "Children are being taught in schools of the country that military training is all wrong; it will be the Legion's policy to fight this anti-preparedness propaganda to the last trench."

"The next war, if there must be a next war, will be fought with every one suffering on an equal basis of sacrifice, and will not be as past wars, a condition of hardship for many and profit for the few."

New Officers Chosen at Georgia Convention

J. R. Fitzpatrick of Columbus was elected Georgia commander of the American Legion at the closing sessions of the sixth annual convention held in Savannah, Ga., recently. The election was made unanimous after Alexander Fawcett of Savannah withdrew from the race. Other officers elected were: State adjutant, M. C. McMillen, Columbus; senior vice commander, H. A. Carithers, Windsor; junior vice commander, Leroy Cowart, Statesboro; chaplain, John Hogan, Savannah; commander, Miss Elizabeth Grimes, Atlanta; state treasurer, James A. Bankston, Atlanta. Asa W. Candier of Atlanta was elected national committeeman; Heyward Hesch, Gainesville, alternate national committeeman. Mrs. Boyce Ficklin, Jr., was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary for Georgia.

To Teach Flag Rules in All Texas Schools

Standard flag rules are to be taught in all the schools in the state of Texas, as a result of a campaign waged by the Texas department of the American Legion for the introduction into the schools of a flag etiquette code. Flag etiquette is to be made a part of the course in civics. The state textbook commission authorized the adoption of the flag code following the appearance before it recently of the state commander of the Legion, who submitted the code to the commission along with arguments showing why it should be adopted.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SECURITY B. & L. ASSOCIATION HELD

The first annual meeting of the stock holders of the Security Building and Loan Association was held on the evening of August 11th, and was quite well attended showing the interest which the share holders have in the progress of this youngest building and loan organization in this vicinity. The secretary's report showed a most healthy condition of affairs in every particular. There has been a consistent demand for loan money throughout the year and the association's funds are still working all the time. The stockholders approved of the manner in which the affairs of their association were being handled by re-electing the old Board of Directors for the ensuing year. It was also decided to issue the third series of stock at this time. Subscriptions are limited to five share per person and may be made to the Secretary, A. K. Staver, at the Clearfield Trust Co. The first payment on this series is due Tuesday, August 28th.

W. C. T. U. NEWS

Yesterday the W. C. T. U. made their annual visit and held the usual service at the County Home, hoping to make a little brighter the lives of the people there.

The meeting opened with singing with accompaniment of organ and hymn by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Swales.

Prayer by Rev. Gibson, who also gave an excellent scripture talk basing it upon the feeding of the multitude. In his usual impressive way he held the close attention of his audience. After singing another number the County President LaRue M. Chorpenn was called upon and talked somewhat of the work of the Temperance forces at home and abroad, partly taking as examples of work done and doing, two foreign girls in attendance at State-Y. P. B. Convention last year. One from the Philippines and this year one from Japan, who are being educated in this country with the express purpose of teaching temperance in their own countries.

Following more music, the distribution of sweets, and flowers took place in the chapel and later in the different wards.

Mrs. Bowman, wife of the new Steward, invited the Union to come again next year.

GLAND THEORY IS KNOCKED COLD BY STATE ALIENIST

Criminal Court, Chicago, Aug. 15.—A very frank gland expert came into Judge John R. Caverly's court room today and did much to confound the theory advanced by the defense lawyers that it was the glands of Dicky Loebe and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., that led them along their careers of crime until they kidnaped little Bobby Franks and bashed his head in with a cold chisel.

With the most engaging frankness of any of the myriad of experts in this unusual murder case, Dr. Rollin T. Woodyatt, declared that the whole science of glands and their relation to the human mind and conduct is yet so unexplored that no one can say accurately what the glands consist of, or whether they have any effect on the conduct of an individual.

"The whole glandular system," Dr. Woodyatt said, "might well be compared to the interior of Africa before Stanley got there."

Notwithstanding that he qualified as an expert, he stuck to that assertion through two hours of direct and sarcastic cross examination.

In vain did the defense lawyers on cross examination seek to get Dr. Woodyatt to define the Pineal, Thyroid, Adrenal and Pituitary glands, and their relation to the conduct of an individual.

"I don't know," said Dr. Woodyatt, in reply to every such question.

He never cracked a smile as he said it, and always he followed it up by the observation that no one else did. He had examined thousands of glands, studied them abroad and at home for a score of years, but they are still a mystery to him," he said, and to all others.

MILITANT JUSTICE HAS HOUSE BLOWN UP BY ENEMIES

Washington, Pa., August 15 (INS).—The House of Henry Tennyson, Justice of the peace at Sloan, near here was dynamited early today destroying the rear end and throwing the Tennyson family who were sleeping in the front of the residence from their beds.

Tennyson, his wife, their son, Arthur, 18, and their daughter Ruth, five were sleeping in the house at the time of the blast.

Two other members of the family who were on their vacation slept in the rear and would probably have been killed if they had been home.

Damage to the house was estimated at $5,000.

Tennyson has been active in prosecuting bootleggers and gamblers.

H. B. Powell entertained the members of his Sunday School class and their families at his beautiful farm house at Pleasant Valley yesterday afternoon and evening.

Just two hundred and nine persons took advantage of Mr. Powell's generous invitation and a highly enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent.

Baseball, trap shooting, croquet pitching and other sports were indulged in by the athletically inclined, while lots of entertainment was afforded those whose inclinations were not so strenuous.

Excellent refreshments were provided and marked the end of a perfect day, while all present were a unit in styling Mr. and Mrs. Powell perfect host and hostess.

MOONSHINERS PULLED

State Police and Philipsburg officers went down on the Centre county side at Munson Tuesday last and arrested John McCreadie, Sr., John McCreadie, Jr., and Steve Kobal on liquor law violation charges.

Moonshine and home-made beer were in evidence at each place visited. Bail in the amount of $1000 each was given by the men at a hearing before Squire Hancock.

Coolidge Formally Accepts Nomination In Speech Before Immense Throng At Capitol

Covers Every Phase of Campaign, Speaking For Over An Hour In Short, Terse Comment.

STANDS ON RECORD

By GEORGE E. DURNO
N. S. Staff Correspondent
Washington, Aug. 15.—Having formally taken up the standard of his party and charted the course of the coming campaign President Coolidge prepared today to leave Washington for the Vermont hills, where, for two weeks, he will enjoy a complete rest preparatory to engaging in one of the hardest contested fights for the Presidency in history.

Shortly after noon, the President, accompanied only by Mrs. Coolidge, their son John, and C. Bascom Sless, his presidential secretary, left the White House for the Vermont hills, where, for two weeks, he will enjoy a complete rest preparatory to engaging in one of the hardest contested fights for the Presidency in history.

On his campaign fully outlined, his issues clearly asserted. At the "official" ceremonies last night when he formally accepted the Republican Presidential nomination, Mr. Coolidge laid down in precise language his claims for continuance in office and his promises to the nation if elected.

As indicated in past utterances, the president will conduct his fight for reelection on the basic issues of governmental economy and tax reduction. He outlined and extolled the virtues of the budget system of government and he promised further reduction in taxes along the lines laid in the so-called Mellon plan.

Touching upon international policy and agricultural relief—two of the fundamental problems confronting the three political parties—President Coolidge made two promises. He announced his intention of calling another world conference for further limitation of armaments, and he promised to appoint a special commission to investigate and report to Congress on the needs of agriculture.

Entering the realm of pure politics, the President took the Democratic party to task for its efforts to make "corrupt government," the outstanding issue of the coming campaign.

In answer to the candidacy of Senator La Follette, Mr. Coolidge first "condemned" any general extension of Government ownership and control, and then took up the fundamentals of the new party.

"We are likely," he declared, "to hear a great deal of discussion about liberal thought and progressive action. It is well for the country to have liberality in thought and progress in action, but its greatest asset is common sense."

The President strongly defended the Mellon tax plan and promised to do all in his power to bring about further revision of the Revenue laws with particular reference to the much debated surtaxes. In dealing with international policy, the President laid down America's conditions of aid to Europe. He announced that the "call" of a new arms conference would be conditional upon acceptance of the Dawes' plan, which, he said, would be a test whether Europe "really desires our co-operation."

Further he again reiterated the determination of the Republican party to avoid entrance into the League of Nations.

The Republican nominee frankly recognizes the agricultural problem as one of the outstanding issues of the campaign.

Promising every possible aid to the farmer and enumerating the steps taken thus far by the Republican administration, he insisted however, that the problem was one, which, in the main, must work out itself.

Throughout his speech the Pres-

ABUSED WIFE TRIES IN FOUR WAYS TO TAKE HER LIFE

Monessen, Aug. 15 (INS).—Mrs. Tillie Dygin is in the borough jail here today and closely guarded after attempting four times to commit suicide in four different ways.

Mrs. Dygin, who said she could stand her husband's abuse no longer, first attempted to die by drinking kerosene, it was knocked from her hand. She then attempted to jump from a second story window, police were called and just before she was removed she tried to cut her throat with a butcher knife.

Laten in her cell the woman attempted to strangle herself with a stocking. Mrs. Dygin is the mother of four children.

dent derided the protective tariff and restrictive immigration. He said in conclusion, his promised campaign would be conducted under a strict budget system with orders that no deficit be permitted, and that further "the spoils system" would not be countenanced.

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee, Ladies and Gentlemen: You bring formal notice, Mr. Chairman, of a nomination for President of the United States. Our system of nominations is the outcome of chance. It is the product of expediency. Very early in their search for a sound method of self-government the American people discovered that the only practical way to secure responsible political action was by the formation of parties, which they adopted because reason pronounced it the most promising and continued because practice found it the most successful.

Underneath and upholding political parties was, and is, the enduring principle that a true citizen of a real Republic can not exist as a segregated, unattached fragment of selfishness, but must live as a constituent part of the whole of society, in which he can secure his own welfare only as he secures the welfare of his fellow men.

Party means political cooperation, and not as an end in itself, but a means, an instrument of government. It is founded upon a great moral principle and directed with scrupulous regard for its integrity, it can not fail to sweep onward and upward, advancing always steadily and surely, a mighty constructive force, a glorious bearer of progress.

That is what the Republican party always has been and is today. In full faith that such it will continue to be, deeply conscious of the high honor of conferring the responsibility it imposes. I accept its nomination for President of the United States.

In the history of our country is recorded the public services rendered by our party for more than three score years. That is secure. I pass on to the recent past and the present.

It is easy to forget, but the impression which the condition of our country in March, 1921, made upon the people was so deep, so vivid, so alarming, that it will not soon pass away. Over two years after the armistice we were still technically in a state of war. We had no diplomatic relations with Turkey, Greece, Russia, Colombia, or Mexico, and the Far East was causing grave apprehensions. In raising and expending for war a vast amount of money a reckless extravagance had come to characterize the administration of public affairs and was all too prevalent in private life. An enormous debt had been contracted, then standing at about $24,000,000,000, of which more than $7,000,000,000 was in short-time obligations without any provision for payment. Government bonds were far below par. The high war-time taxes still burdened the people.

Demobilization and liquidation remained to be completed. Huge accounts with the railroads were unsettled. Transportation was crippled. Over $11,000,000,000 of unliquidated debts were due to us from foreign countries. The whole people were suffering from a tremendous debt. Our banks were filled with frozen assets, and everywhere acute financial distress existed. Interest was high. Capital was scarce. Approximately 5,000,000 people were without employment. No adequate provision had been made for the relief of the disabled veterans and their dependents. There was an avalanche of war-worn peoples and suddenly cheapened merchandise impending upon us from foreign lands. The great power were still engaged in burdening their people by building competitive armaments.

At Peace With the World
This staggering array indicates some of the major problems of this administration. There have been more peace-making and constructive accomplishments than since March, 1921. We have ratified separate treaties of world-wide importance with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Colombia, and Mexico. Forty-two other treaties are now awaiting its action. Friendly intercourse has been resumed with Turkey and Greece, and we have established our rights and insured peace in the Far East and the Pacific Ocean. Our foreign relations have been handled with a technical skill and a broad statesmanship which is seldom, if ever, surpassed.

Reduces Costs of Government Two Billions

In the domain of finances a budget system was promptly enacted and put into operation, resulting in tremendous savings. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, our expenditures were $5,538,000,000, and our surplus was $86,000,000. For the year just closed our expenditures were $5,472,000,000, and our surplus exceeded $500,000,000. This was a reduction in the annual cost of government of $2,041,000,000. The public debt now stands at about $21,250,000,000, which is a reduction in three years of $2,750,000,000 and means a saving of $2,750,000,000 in interest. The $7,000,000,000 of short-time obligations have all been quietly refunded or paid. The internal revenue taxes have been reduced twice, and many of them repealed, so that during the present fiscal year the total receipts will show a saving of $1,000,000,000 in the course of 62 years. These settlements are not only stupendous financial transactions, but demonstrations of the most profound nature of international good faith and the dominion over international relations of moral power. The finances of this Nation have been managed with a genius and a success unmatched since the days of Hamilton.

Industry Revived

The Army and Navy have been reduced to a low peace-time basis, and surplus materials and supplies converted into cash. Hundreds of millions of accounts have been settled with the railroads, which have been financed without any public expense so that they could adequately serve the greatest peace-time commerce ever moved without a shortage of cars. A great revival of industry took place, which is now spreading to agriculture. Complaints of unemployment have ceased, wages have increased, and the people have been made more comfortable and the banks of our country, as a whole, show a high percentage of liquid assets.

Most generous laws for the relief of disabled veterans have been enacted, and the Veterans' Bureau established. More than 71,000 men and women have been rehabilitated, of whom over 38,000 are earning more than they earned before the war. Compensation is being paid to nearly half a million at the rate of about $100,000,000 a year, which will be increased about $30,000,000 under legislation recently passed. Forty million dollars have been provided for hospital facilities, and under a new law hospitals have been opened to all the veterans of all wars, regardless of the time or cause of their disability. No government ever provided so generously for those disabled by service in time of war.

America Must Be Kept American
To preserve American standards for all our inhabitants, whether they are the descendants of former generations residing here or the most recent arrivals, restrictive immigration laws were passed. I should have preferred to continue the policy of Japanese exclusion by some method less likely to offend the sensibilities of the Japanese people. I did what I could to minimize any harm that might arise. But the law has been passed and approved, and the incident is closed. We must seek by some means besides immigration to demonstrate the friendship and respect which we feel for the Japanese nation.

Restricted immigration is not an offensive, but a purely defensive action. It is not adopted in criticism of others in the slightest degree, but solely for the purpose of protecting ourselves. We cast no aspersions on any race or creed, but we must remember that

Philadelphia, Aug. 15 (INS).—Because her father spanked her right in public while she was conversing with a girl friend, pretty Rose Glader 19, had him in court today. Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 15 (INS).—Thomas O'Neill 24, of Lukens, was admitted to the Harrisburg hospital shortly before noon today suffering from four gun-shot wounds.

O'Neill refused to discuss the vicious attack that had been made upon him, but county authorities immediately started an investigation.

The person who shot O'Neill evidently desired to maim rather than kill him, because an expert marksman apparently fired the shots which mangled parts of his body.

FIRE ALARM SOUNDED FOR BURNING CAR IN SMITHY

A slight fire at the blacksmith shop of Boyd Crissman, in the alley between Second and Third streets, called the firemen out about twenty-three this afternoon.

Mrs. Crissman was making some repairs to his car, and starting the engine, stepped out of the shop for a little time. In some manner the oil in and round the engine became ignited and was blazing merrily when the alarm from box 17 was turned in.

Paul Raymond driving one of the Kurtz Storage Company's trucks was Johnny-on-the-spot with a Pyrene extinguisher putting out the fire before the firemen arrived. Damage to the car was slight.

Mrs. Lloyd Robb, Mrs. Clair Hench barger, Miss Dorothy and Larue Robb Miss Hazel Shaffner have gone to Buffalo for a two weeks visit with Mrs. and Mrs. George Feizer.

Mrs. B. E. McDavid, of Kentucky, is visiting Mrs. Marvin Bowes at present.

BOYS UNEARTH THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS IN $100 BILLS, BUT, ALAS, OWNER SOON PUTS IN APPEARANCE

Brazil, Ind., Aug. 15 (INS).—Riches of the Spanish Main were nothing compared to treasure that for a time was that of two small boys of Rosedale, Parke County. They unearthed there just while digging for fish worms and found a great roll of $100 bills.

Today they are fishermen again. The money belonged to Dr. Zaccus

BURG TEAM AGAIN TASTES DEFEAT AT HANDS OF LOCALS

Manager Saul Robinson took his "world beating" C. & C. League team over to Philipsburg yesterday afternoon and the boys kicked their Center county brethren in the shins for a 11 to 5 victory in a game featured by hard hitting and snappy baseball by both teams.

We heard such awful tales about "the enemy" after the game played at the Burg last week that we decided to go over to this game and see just how Philipsburgers did perform when their team was getting a drubbing. We found, too, that while they didn't like it a bit, they were pretty good sports about it at that.

They rooted loud and long for their favorites up to and including the fourth inning, but after that we never heard Scotty's horn toot once.

The umpiring was done by O'Neill and Hicks and was the best we have seen in this League this season. Theumps "called them as they saw them" and there wasn't even a single kick on their work.

Jack McCabe was present but he was nursing a couple of pencil gulls on his strong right hand and his "telephone wires" down.

It was a bad day for pitchers as each side had to use two twirlers. Cowdick started for our side, but was derisked by Manager Robinson in the fourth. Rex Fauver replaced Cowdick and Philipsburg never scored another run.

Hancock started for Philipsburg, but was forced to give way to a port sided flinger from Winburne, who also got lambasted very neatly during the time he toiled in the box.

Clearfield batters hammered out nineteen hits for a total of twenty-nine bases. Shaulis led with the war club and cracked out a triple and three. (Continued from Page Seven)

Washington, Pa., Auto, Crashing Into Speeding Train, Is Hurlled Aside

Washington, Pa., August 15 (INS).—C. R. Stoner of this city and four other occupants of his automobile had a miraculous escape from death today when Stoner drove his car into the westbound Cincinnati express at Hays crossing on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad here.

The car was hurled aside by the rushing train, but the passengers escaped serious injury.

PERRY ROWLES ENDS LIFE BY DRINKING CARBOLIC ACID

Spanish-American War Veteran, After Period of Dissipation, Drinks Fatal Potion At Home.

FOUND YESTERDAY

Perry W. Rowles, a resident of this section practically all his life, committed suicide at his home on Mt. Joy road, just beyond the concrete bridge over Moose Creek, some time on Wednesday last by drinking carbolic acid.

It is said that Rowles had been drinking heavily the past couple of weeks, which resulted in domestic difficulties at his home. He was alone in the house at the time he committed the rash act. He was seen about the house Wednesday but when he did not appear yesterday neighbors went into the house and found him lying on his bed on the second floor dead with the empty acid bottle by his side.

Rowles, who was about 55 years of age, was a Spanish-American War veteran, and came to Clearfield from Gramplan more than twenty-years ago. He is survived by a widow. One brother, W. G. Rowles also resides here.

Tourist Shoots Wife And Child, Throws Them Into Car, Drives Away

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 15 (INS).—Two posers early today were in hot pursuit of a tourist who apparently killed his wife and one of his children a few miles south of Hichita, on the Robertson highway late yesterday. The bodies tumbled into his car and sped away.

The man, woman and two children were standing beside his car when suddenly the man drew a pistol, pointed it at his wife's breast and fired. She fell, apparently dead, into the road.

He then thurshed the revolver upon one of the children, a girl, who crumpled at his feet. The other child witnessing the tragedy, fled, and escaped in a rain of bullets.

A WISE OLD OWL IN TOWN

City Clerk C. E. Oberheim of Lock Haven, who is also City Editor of the Lock Haven Express, was a Clearfield visitor today and while here introduced and made himself solid with Chief of Police McMullin and other Department of Safety officials.

Oberheim said it has long been his custom to look the Chief of Police up as soon as he lands in a strange town, because he finds it much more pleasant to hunt up the Chief than have the police hunt you up. Besides you never know what might happen these days, even to a fellow too old to go all the gait.

Oberheim says he is stuck on Clearfield and thinks that out of Lock Haven it is the finest and best town in the West Branch valley. We agree with him in that, except that we make no exception as to Lock Haven.

Every object of our institutions of society and government will fail unless America be kept American.

Tariff Benefits

By means of a protective tariff we saved American agriculture, labor and industry from the menace of having through the dumping on it of a good of foreign products. Under this wise policy we saw an economic revival, and our people as a whole, in marked distinction from sufferers from the financial distress and depression of other lands, have come into an area of prosperity and plenty. As a source of revenue the tariff surpassed all expectations in producing an annual return of the unprecedented sum of about $550,000,000. A fiscal policy which places a large and much needed revenue in the public treasury, while stimulating business to a condition of abounding prosperity, defends itself against any criticism. Its merits are demonstrated by its results. We have protected our own inhabitants from the economic disaster of an invasion of too many foreign people or too much foreign merchandise.

Results of Arms Conference

The people have never come to a full realization of the importance of the Washington Conference. It produced the one effective agreement among the great powers in all the history of civilization for relieving the people of the earth from the enormous burden of maintaining competitive naval armaments. I do not believe any conference ever did more to promote the peace of the world. I am perfectly sure that none ever did so much to reduce the cost of government. By removing causes of irritation, in which lay the seeds of war in the Far East, our own country received incalculable benefits. Only when that was done could disarmament follow. What had always before failed, then became a success. A policy was adopted which was more than revolutionary. It was sublime. It demonstrated at last that peace and good will are not vain illusions, but actual realities. The credit for the inception of this epoch-making policy, and for its practical conclusion, is due to the initiative of American statesmanship.

These are some of the larger aspects, though very incompletely depicted, of what this administration has been doing to promote the welfare of the American people. A survey of the economic condition of our country, the industrial peace which prevails, the mighty influence which our moral power exerts throughout the world, all testify that it has not been without success.

Honest Endeavors

There are those who would disregard all this for an undertaking to convince themselves and others that the chief issue of this campaign is honest government. In all my studies of political history I cannot recall an administration which was desirous of a dishonest and corrupt government that, for the purpose of checking extravagance, even undertook to introduce a budget system, to cut down taxes, to purge the pay rolls, to make enormous reductions in the public debt, and to lay firmer foundations for the peace of the world. That is not the way of dishonesty. The Government is sound, but individuals charged with wrongdoing are being prosecuted. The people of this country hate corruption,

They know my position. They know the law will be enforced.

Wherever there have been suspicions of guilt, involving members of any party, I have caused them to be investigated, and presentation made to the grand jury. If the evidence warranted, those suspected of crime have been indicted, and without favor, but without malice, they will be tried on the charges returned against them. Wherever it has appeared that the property of the Government has been illegally transferred and held, action has been brought for its recovery and will be pursued to a final judgment. No Government was ever able to prevent altogether the commission of crime, but this Government, under my direction, is doing the best it can to detect and punish any and all wrongdoing. The laws of the land are being, and will continue to be, enforced. I propose to use every possible effort to resist corruption in office. The American Government must be clean.

Individual Enterprise

Many principles exist which I have tried to represent and propose to support. I believe in the American Constitution. I favor the American system of individual enterprise, and I am opposed to any general extension of Government ownership and control. I believe not only in advocating economy in public expenditure, but in its practical application and actual accomplishment. I believe in a reduction and reform of taxation, and shall continue my efforts in that direction. I am in favor of protection. I favor the Permanent Court and further limitation of armaments. I am opposed to aggressive war. I shall avoid involving ourselves in the political controversies of Europe, but I shall do what I can to encourage American citizens and resources to assist in restoring Europe, with the sympathetic support of our Government. I want agriculture and industry on a sound basis of prosperity and equality. I shall continue to strive for the economic, moral, and spiritual welfare of my country. American citizens will decide in the coming election whether these accomplishments and these principles have their approval and support.

Home Comes First

The domestic affairs of our country appear to me to be by far the chief concern. From that source comes our strength. The home market consumes nearly all of our production. Within our own boundaries will be determined to a very large degree the economic welfare and the moral worth of the American people. These are plain facts, but there are others equally plain.

America, under Providence, has come to be a Nation of great responsibility. It exists as one of the family of nations. We can not be isolated. Other peoples exist all about us. Their actions affect us, and our actions affect them, whether we will or no. Their financial condition is not and can not be entirely separated from our financial condition. But the final determination of our relationship to other countries rises into a higher realm. We believe in the brotherhood of man, because we believe in the fatherhood of God. That is our justification for freedom and equality. We believe in the law of service, which teaches us that we can improve ourselves only by helping others. We know that these principles are applicable alike to our domestic and our foreign relations. We can not live unto ourselves alone.

Foreign Policy

The foreign policy of America can best be described by one word—peace. Our actions have always proclaimed our peaceful desires, but never more evidently than now. We covet no territory; we support no threatening military array; we harbor no hostile intent. We have pursued, are pursuing, and shall continue to pursue with untiring devotion the cause of peace.

These ideals we have put into practical application. We have sought to promote peace not only by word, but by appropriate action. We have been unwilling to surrender our independence. We have refused to ratify the covenant of the League of Nations. But we have cooperated with it to suppress the narcotic trade and promote public health. We have every desire to help, but the time, the place and the method must be left to our own determination. Under our Constitution we cannot forgo the right of the President on the Congress to determine future problems when they arise. We must necessarily proceed upon the principle of our present cooperation without future entanglements.

As peace means fundamentally a reign of law, we propose to become a member of the Permanent Court of International Justice. Such action would do much to indicate our determination to restrain the rule of force and solidify and sustain the rule of reason among nations.

The Work of Dawes

We have observed with sympathy the continuing difficulties of Europe. We have desired to assist whenever we could do so effectively. Late in December, 1922, the Secretary of State announced the American plan, which was finally adopted. Under it the Reparations Commission appointed a committee of experts of which three were Americans, one of whom, Charles G. Dawes, was chosen chairman. A report has been made which received world-wide approbation and has been accepted in principle by the Governments interested. At a conference of Prime Ministers held to work out the details of putting this plan into operation, I directed the attendance of Ambassador Kellogg, assisted by Colonel Logan, to represent our Government. Throughout all this course of events we helped in the only way we could help.

I believe the substance of the plan ought to be adopted. By that test will be revealed whether Europe really desires our cooperation. If Europe should agree to this proposal then a private loan should be made by our citizens to Germany for the financial support of this undertaking. The governments interested should make necessary concessions for the security of such a loan. In my opinion such action, by stabilizing Europe, would result in improving our own economic condition. But beyond that it is the duty of our people who have the resources to use them for the relief of war-stricken nations and the improvement of world conditions.

Further Limitations of Arms

As this is written, reports indicate that the plan of General Dawes will be adopted, and that the effort of America has made a tremendous contribution to the welfare, security, and peace of the world. But I await the event. When the reparations plan is in operation, I shall deem it an appropriate time to approach the great powers with a proposal for another conference for a further limitation of armaments and for devising plans for a codification of international laws. I personally should favor entering into covenants for the purpose of outlawing aggressive war by any practical means. Our country has always been against aggressive war and for permanent peace. Those who are working out detailed plans to present such a policy for consideration have my entire sympathy. I trust that never again will the women of this Nation be called on to sacrifice their loved ones to the terrible scourge of war.

We have constantly striven to come to more complete understandings and improve our relations with Latin America. At their request we have undertaken to compose their difficulties. We helped the Government of Mexico protect itself against domestic violence. There is little doubt that in extending this assistance and the moral support which it indicated we helped save the people of Mexico from the terrors of another revolution. We also indicated the adoption of a policy

By J. D. C.

July is usually considered to be the warmest month of the year all over the northern Hemisphere, and its heat is an old Roman superstition which has left its mark on our own.

Warm weather is not always too healthy, and July in Rome was frequently a month of epidemics and high mortality. The Romans connected this with the rising and setting of the star Canicula—the Little Dog—in coincidence with the sun, and talked of the period from July 3 to August 11 as the Dog Days.

The Little Dog no longer rises with the sun during this period, but the name of the Dog Days and something of their old sinister reputation still persist.

Winfield B. Morgan, divorce clerk in Baltimore, has made the discovery that brunettes hasten to the court for release from marital bonds, while the blonds stay on and endure their husbands with what patience they can command. This is not opinion but statistical evidence supplied by the 750 divorce cases that have come into the Baltimore courts in the last two months. Clerk Morgan has tabulated these cases and finds that 80 per cent of them were brunettes. The remaining 20 per cent were not all blonds. He reaches the conclusion, therefore, that by a big majority it is the girl with the black and brown hair who heads for the divorce court at the first sign of trouble, while the girls of all the bright and light shades are slower to wrath and more inclined to mercy.

Do you remember the Great Staked Plains, that barren portion of Texas which the school books of a few decades ago told about? The staked plains were uninhabitable and never would amount to anything, said the travelers who had crossed a portion of them. Today the great staked plains are growing the best cotton produced anywhere in the world. During the last eighteen years there has only been one crop failure in that district. Human ingenuity has conquered an inhospitable land and it has just begun its work of reclamation. The time will come when the Sahara will be a garden plot.

of making it worth while for a government to conduct itself as to merit recognition. We have secured a written agreement with Mexico to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce to replace one which was canceled as long ago as 1921, and joint commissions will shortly meet to adjust all American claims against that country.

Religious Prejudices
The Federal Government ought to be, and is, solicitous for the welfare of every one of its inhabitants, every one of its business activities, whether they be small or great. This is one of its common interests. There should be no favorites and no outcasts; no race or religious prejudices in government. America opposes special privilege for anybody, and favors equal opportunity for everybody. It has adopted these principles because they are the logical conclusions of our ideals of organization, cooperation, and diversity. Moreover, we believe they are to our national welfare. We oppose the artificial supports of privilege and monopoly because they are both unjust and uneconomic. They are not. They do not work. No sound and enduring Government or prosperity can rest upon anything but the sure foundations of equal opportunity and justice for all.

Protection
It is in accordance with these principles that our Government seeks by appropriate legislation to promote the financial welfare of all the different groups that form our great economic structure. The Republican Party supports the policy of protection as a broad principle good alike for producer and consumer, because it knows that no other means to prevent the lowering of the standards of pay and living for the American wage earner has been devised. Were such protection removed, the result would be felt at every fireside in the land. Our industry would languish, factories would close, commerce and transportation would be paralyzed, financial distress and economic depression would reach over the whole country. Before we are carried away with any visionary expectation of promoting the public welfare by a general avalanche of cheap goods from foreign sources, imported under a system which, whatever it may be called, is in reality free trade, it will be well first to count the cost and realize just what such a proposal really means.

I am for protection because it maintains American standards of living and of business, for agriculture, industry, and labor. I am in favor of the elastic provisions of our tariff law. I propose to administer them, not politically, but judicially. As the business of the world becomes stabilized, cost of living has gone down, wages have advanced. The 12-hour day and the 7-day week have practically been abolished. The uninterrupted operation of public utilities with mutual satisfaction and legally established methods of adjusting labor questions have been sought. Collective bargaining and voluntary arbitration have been encouraged. Republican rule has raised the wage earner to a higher standard than he ever occupied before anywhere in the world.

Agriculture
I confess that my inheritance and personal experience have bred in me a keen interest in the welfare of agriculture. Perhaps the very hardships of those who have been engaged in it have encountered have caused it to be the chief source of that independence and stalwart citizenship which has contributed so lavishly to the glory of American life. It constitutes an element in our Nation of such importance as to be worthy of the utmost solicitude and concern. One of our first thoughts in 1921 was for its relief and revival. As many as 15 laws have been passed to assist the support of this fundamental industry. Through the War Finance Corporation it has been extended credits of between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000. In addition to this, government activity provided about $50,000,000 from private sources for the relief of the cattle industry, and in the early spring of this year a $10,000,000 corporation was formed, which it was estimated could furnish $100,000,000 for diversification and financial relief in the Northwest. The Intermediate Credit Banks have loaned over $35,000,000 to individuals and cooperative marketing associations, which assisted directly and indirectly over 500,000 farmers.

Notwithstanding all this, agriculture was subjected to an era of most serious depression. Several of its great staples like cotton, cattle, hogs, corn, and wheat, suffered from low prices, due to overproduction, unbalanced conditions between costs and sale prices in agriculture, industry, and labor, and the disorganization of the markets of the world. But for the enormous buying power behind the high wages of industry put behind the market for American food products, especially meat, the agricultural regions would have experienced even a far more severe financial crisis.

Due to a change in the world supply, prices of products have begun to improve, even so far as to increase land values. The Government rendered a great deal of assistance and private enterprise cooperated, but the fundamental remedy was provided, as it always must be provided, not so much through the enactment of legislative laws as through the working out of economic laws. Because the farmers have thoroughly realized this, they have on the whole opposed price fixing by legislation. While maintaining a position, they have seen a partial relief come in a natural way, as it was bound to come.

We now need in agriculture more

The Republican platform recognizes that agriculture should be on a basis of economic equality with other industries. This is easy to say, but the farmers themselves and their advisers have never been able to agree on a plan to provide it by law. Now that nature and economic law have given some temporary relief, I propose, therefore, to appoint a committee to investigate and report measures to the Congress in December that may help secure this result which are all desire. I want profitable agriculture established permanently. I want to see the dollar of the farmer always purchase as much as any other dollar. A wise, skilled, and unselfish leadership can do more than anything else to rescue agriculture. The farmer who has the tact and the courage necessary for management, and who has the fidelity to refuse political preferment and business opportunity. There are such leaders. In the sacrifices they make to serve the farmer lies the greatest hope for his salvation.

Labor
Those who toil have always profited from Republican control of Government. Under the policy of protection and restrictive immigration no deflation of wages has occurred. While the cost of living has gone down, wages have advanced. The 12-hour day and the 7-day week have practically been abolished. The uninterrupted operation of public utilities with mutual satisfaction and legally established methods of adjusting labor questions have been sought. Collective bargaining and voluntary arbitration have been encouraged. Republican rule has raised the wage earner to a higher standard than he ever occupied before anywhere in the world.

Thrift
The war left us with many evils. One result was the tremendous wastage of wealth. The people of this country were required to re-create nearly one-fifth of our national resources. All of this enormous sum has to be earned. When so large a part of the work of 300 years is swept away, it is not easily recovered. It takes all the tremendous energy of men, of enterprise, of the vast properties represented by invested capital and of material working through years, to repair the damage and re-

MORAL STANDARDS

Some people take a discouraged view about moral standards as they exist now. They feel that there has been in recent years, particularly since the World War, a marked decline. They point to the great number of people who take marriage vows very lightly, to the free use of liquor and prevalence of bootlegging, to the loose conduct among young people, and so on.

Yet in certain respects there seems a decided improvement. Business morals have reached a higher standard. The practices that were common and followed by the majority of business men 20 years ago, would not be tolerated today. Take the field of politics also. Bribery of voters was once extremely common, but now it is unusual.

The truth probably is that years ago many people lived a pretty straight life, not because they had strong principles against lax conduct, but because there was nothing else to do. In the old fashioned country town, for instance, there was little to do but attend church. The young people became impregnated with strict ideas of morals. They were not under such temptation, and many did right just because there was not much chance to do wrong.

Today, with the growth of big cities, the multiplication of amusements both helpful and harmful, the temptations to go wrong have become far more compelling. If the same opportunities had been offered the youth of a previous generation, they would probably have done about the same things. The world has not slipped backward, but people have come nearer finding their true moral level.

Now the community must get busy and promote those strong and helpful measures that will offset the greater temptations of this era. Give people plenty of wholesome diversions, and not so many of them will go astray.

THE SUICIDE RATE

Referring to the number of recorded suicides in this country during the past year, the Save-a-Life League says that "if any disease caused so many deaths there would be no small uprising to devise means for its suppression."

There were 12,948 reported suicides in 1923. The actual total is estimated as nearer 16,000. One-third of the known suicides were women. Another 4,000 of them were children between the ages of 5 and 18 years. There was no alarming advance in the suicide rate among men.

What is wrong? The Save-a-Life League suggests that physical collapse and nervous breakdowns are responsible for many of the women suicides. An endless social whirl which leaves no time for mental rest or spiritual recreation, to say nothing of needed physical rest, brings on such collapse. It suggests also that there is too little reverence for life, and too little willingness to stick to a worthy purpose in spite of discouragement and disappointment.

Whatever the reasons for it, the situation remains serious and should be given thoughtful study by parents and educators. The person who quits a game because the victory doesn't seem to be coming his way is considered a poor sport.

But the problem is deeper than this and involves more than a sportsmanlike attitude toward the game of life. This age does need to take more time for peace and quiet, for the development of poise, and it needs more wisdom and sanity for the proper use of its leisure time and for true enjoyment of its wealth of mechanical conveniences. Teaching and preaching these things, setting the example of steadfastness in good will and reverence for human life are essential if the suicide rate is to begin going down instead of continuing its hideous upward climb.

place the values destroyed by war. The only method by which we can make up this loss is by saving a part of what we produce each year. It will make little difference how much we raise on the farm, or how much we turn out in the mill, if it is all used up or all the proceeds are expended. We can only be relieved of our present private and public burdens by refraining from private and public extravagance. We must resist private and public outlays for which there is no commensurate return. This is common sense. Whatever anybody may claim or say, there is no other method by which the people can rid themselves of their financial burdens.

It is for that reason that the present administration has made every possible effort to cut down the expenses of government. The country needs more sense of its ability to restore itself. The costs of the Government are all assessed on the people. This means that the farmer is doomed to provide a certain amount of money out of the sale of his produce, no matter how low the price, to pay his taxes. The manufacturer, the professional man, the clerk in the office, the man in the shop, the wage earner, often at a higher rate when compared with his earnings, makes his contribution, perhaps not directly, but indirectly, in the advanced cost of everything he buys. The expenses of the Government reach everybody. Taxes are taken from everyone a part of his earnings, and force everyone to work for a certain part of his time for the Government.

Why Economy?

When we come to realize that the yearly expenses of all the government in this country have reached the stupendous sum of about $7,500,000,000, we get some idea of what it means. Of this amount about $3,500,000,000 is needed by the National Government, and the remainder by local governments. Such a sum is difficult to comprehend. It represents all the pay of 5,000,000 wage earners receiving $5 a day, working 300 days in the year. If the Government should add on $100,000,000 of expense, it would represent four days more work of these wage earners. They are each paying for the Government work of these wage earners. They are each paying for the Government work of these wage earners. They are each paying for the Government work of these wage earners.

I want the people of America to be able to work less for the Government and more for themselves. I want them to have the rewards of their own industry. That is the chief meaning of freedom. Until we can establish this condition under which the earnings of the people can be kept by the people, we are bound to suffer a very distinct curtailment of our liberty.

These results are not fanciful, they are not imaginary; they are grimy actual and real, reaching into every household in the land. They take from each home annually an average of over $300. And taxes must be paid. They are not a voluntary contribution to be met out of surplus earnings. They are a stern necessity. They come first. It is only out of what is left after they are paid that the necessities of food, clothing and shelter can be provided, the comforts of home secured, or the yearnings of the soul for a broader and more abundant life gratified. When the Government exacts a new economy, it forces everybody a life pension with which to raise the standard of existence. It increases the value of everybody's property and raises the scale of everybody's wages. One of the greatest favors that can be bestowed upon the American people is economy in government.

Because of my belief in these principles, I favor economy that the taxes of everybody may be reduced. Much has already been done. The bill which I signed will save the people about $1,000,000 each day. I want further tax reduction and more tax reform. The raising of the revenue required to conduct our Government is intimately connected with our economic welfare. If it is done by wise and just laws, the burden will be the most easily borne. But if the method of taxation is not sound, disaster will follow, reaching even to financial parity. Our first thought should be to maintain unimpaired the activity of agriculture and industry. That tax is theoretically best which interferes least with business.

Every student knows that excessive high rates defeat their own purpose. They dry up that source of revenue and leave those paying lower rates to furnish all taxes. High rates tend to paralyze business. For these reasons I am opposed to excess-profits taxes and high surtaxes. When the revenue bill of 1921 was passed, abolishing excess profits and greatly reducing high surtaxes, it was immediately followed by a revival in business and an increase in the number of large incomes, so that the Government received nearly $100,000,000 the straight path of justice.

Economy should be practiced scrupulously in the conduct of a national campaign. I know it is difficult to distinguish between real service to the people and mere wastefulness. Costs have increased by doubling of the electorate, rendering close calculation impossible.

Nevertheless, I can perceive no reason why one budget system should not be beneficial in a campaign, as it has proved to be in government. It is to be tested by our committee. There should be no relaxing of resolute endeavor to keep our elections clean, honest and free from taint of any kind. Only the closest scrutiny of both the sources of contributions and the character of expenditures can accomplish this laudable purpose.

For the first time this has been provided for the coming campaign. Thus the appointment of a competent Senate committee vested with ample authority. The Republican national chairman has already volunteered to file sworn reports of both income and outgo, in full detail, at such regular intervals as the committee may deem serviceable and practicable.

The statutes provide for publication of the names of contributors and of amounts contributed. But a deficit at the end of a campaign in past defeats has found that the people as a whole have paid the taxes. We should, therefore, have a system of taxation under which the people as a whole are most likely to be prosperous. Our country will be better off if, disregarding those who appeal to jealousy and envy, it follows in taxation and all else one other requirement, that no individual, or group of individuals, may expect any governmental favors in return for party assistance. Whatever anyone gives must be received on no other basis.

For the first time, after having opportunity fully to organize, the women of the Nation are making the new force which they represent directly to bear on our political affairs. I know that the influence of womanhood will guard the home, which is the citadel of the Nation. I know it will be a protector of childhood. I know it will be on the side of humanity. I welcome it as a great instrument of mercy and a mighty agency of peace. I want every woman to vote.

While we are discussing some of the problems of the day, some of the changes we propose to meet temporary conditions, it is also well to remember that it is equally necessary to support our fundamental institutions. We believe in our method of constitutional government and the integrity of the legislative, judicial, and executive departments. We believe that our liberties and our rights are best preserved, not through political, but through judicial action. The Constitution is the sole source and guaranty of national freedom. We believe that the safest place to declare and interpret the Constitution which the people have made is in the Supreme Court of the United States.

We believe the people of the Nation should continue to own the property and to conduct the business of the Nation. We harbor no delusions about perfecting perfection. We know that

Under our institutions success is the rule and failure is the exception. We have no better example of this than the enormous progress which is being made by the Negro race. In some of its individuals it may seem slow, tedious, and unsatisfactory, but viewed as a whole it has been a demonstration of their patriotism and their worth. They are doing a great work in the land, and are entitled to the protection of the Constitution and the law. It is a satisfaction to observe that the crime of lynching, of which they have been so often the victims, has been greatly diminished, and I trust that any further continuation of this national shame may be prevented by law. As a plain matter of expediency the white man can not be protected unless the black man is protected, and as a plain matter of right law and justice is justice for everybody.

Questions Asked by Stock Raisers

Feeding Problem Blanks Sent to Department of Agriculture.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The recent work of the United States Department of Agriculture and co-operating states to improve the methods of feeding live stock has stimulated interest in all parts of the country and feeding problem blanks sent to many farmers have been filled out and sent in for replies. A survey made last summer showed that a large percentage of stock raisers and feeders have many puzzling problems and that most of them are searching for better and more economical rations.

Wide Range of Problems.
A few of the early inquiries received as a result of this new service offered to farmers show a wide range of problems from scattered states. A Maryland farmer asked for good rations for brood sows and growing pigs. Although he had been keeping hogs for eight years, his corn was practically the only feed used. The department's reply pointed out the principles of successful swine feeding and called attention to the need for good pastures, mineral mixtures, and a well-balanced grain ration. A Kentucky cattle feeder submitted the rations he had been using for finishing for both the spring and fall markets and received suggestions which should save him money the coming year.

Among Other Problems.
Among the other problems the department has helped to solve are the making of dairy rations where certain feeds commonly used are not available; the addition of more desirable crops in the farm rotation; feeding brood pigs to be sold for breeding purposes; the saving of grain by use of other roughages; and many more. Requests for assistance have come from Alabama, Colorado, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, South Carolina, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Sound Suggestions for Building Cattle Barns

Breeders and feeders of beef cattle will find in a new Farmers' Bulletin, "Beef Cattle Barns," just published by the United States Department of Agriculture, suggestions of value regarding the right types of barns for various conditions, the location, arrangement, construction and ventilation. Several plans and alternate plans are given for general-purpose barns, feeding barns, and barns for housing breeding herds. Consideration is given to the requirements in severe climates and in regions where less protection is needed from the elements. The bulletin contains 16 drawings showing elevations, floor plans and cross sections. Emphasis is placed on the desirability of economizing as much as possible whenever added cost will increase the overhead with little advantage in convenience, durability or comfort of the animals.

Copies of the bulletin, which is No. 1250, may be obtained by writing to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, as long as the supply lasts.

Meat Scrap for Laying Hens of Big Importance

Rations for laying hens should contain approximately 12 per cent meat scrap for efficient egg production is brought out by tests at the Ohio station. This amount of meat scrap has decreased the cost of feed more than 20 per cent and increased the egg production more than 50 per cent, as compared with a ration containing only 2 per cent of meat scrap. This was true of both the heavy and light breeds of poultry.

A ration in which the grain mixture was made up of three parts corn, one part wheat and the dry mash mixture of two parts, by weight, ground corn, one part bran and two parts meat scrap, has proven satisfactory. The birds consumed twice as much grain as mash.

Question of Hen House Location Is Important

The question of where to locate the poultry houses and yards is one that should be given careful consideration before one begins the expenditure of perfectly good money. One piece of advice which will apply to all cases alike is this: Never locate the houses and yards on a damp, poorly drained plot of ground, on which shade trees, grass and clover crops do not thrive, unless it presents good opportunities for drainage and improvement.

Other conditions being favorable, locate the houses and yards where they will be convenient to the house and other buildings, so that the care of the poultry may be made a part of the regular chores of the farm.

"Clover and Prosperity" as National Farm Slogan

Clover is often regarded as the farm index. "Clover and prosperity" might well be a national farm slogan. And yet there are countless thousands of farms in the country today on which it is impossible to grow clover. Two years ago clover could not have been grown on the land at the Maryland experiment field, Leonardtown. Lime and complete fertilizer have produced the finest stand of crimson clover imaginable.

WORK "UNDER FIRE" FOR NEW MEMBERS

Twelve hundred new members secured in the setting of the sun was the achievement of Oklahoma American Legionnaires recently in a membership drive. Their drive was intensive and along the following lines: Assembly was begun at 6 a. m. At 6:30 Legionnaires were folding their napkins after a breakfast served by the Auxiliary at the Legion home. At 7 the workers went forward into battle amidst the patter of real machine guns and the roar of real cannons. All through the day the machine guns were in operation. Each hour the fire whistle sounded, assembly call was blown and a bomb hurled into the skies, to explode 200 feet above the earth.

On the walls at "General Headquarters" a chart was placed containing a series of trenches. Each man's name was listed in the first trench and his status and line of advance during the day noted by a red thumb tack. When the objective was attained by any Legionnaire he was crowned with an Indian headgear and thrown in as a reinforcement in the salient where the line was weaker. By this plan every Legionnaire's valor under fire was recorded.

Cars were commandeered to seek out prospects living in the country where many an ex-service man was made a Legionnaire by the barter principle of exchange—chickens, eggs and pork in many instances being accepted in lieu of the necessary three bucks membership dues.

Police patrols and fire carts were pressed into service to "bring in" the handcuffed prisoners.

The Legion band and bugle corps played on the streets during the day. Airplanes were used in distributing literature. One thousand theater tickets were thrown from high buildings.

Booths were maintained at prominent corners where many a thirsting ex-service man was near-beered and prezeized into the Legion.

Reports of the progress of the drive were radio-broadcast throughout the day.

NEXT BIG FIGHTS

"THE Universal Service Law will be the next big fight of the Legion," was the prophecy of John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, at a dinner given in his honor at Spokane, Wash., recently. The commander of the Legion declared: "Within three years we will have as big a fight on for this measure as we have had for the adjusted compensation. There will be other fights," the fighting commander of the Legion emphasized. "Children are being taught in schools of the country that military training is all wrong; it will be the Legion's policy to fight this anti-preparedness propaganda to the last trench."

"The next war, if there must be a next war, will be fought with every one suffering on an equal basis of sacrifice, and will not be as past wars, a condition of hardship for many and profit for the few."

New Officers Chosen at Georgia Convention

J. R. Fitzpatrick of Columbus was elected Georgia commander of the American Legion at the closing sessions of the sixth annual convention held in Savannah, Ga., recently. The election was made unanimous after Alexander Fawcett of Savannah withdrew from the race. Other officers elected were: State adjutant, M. C. McMillen, Columbus; senior vice commander, H. A. Carithers, Windsor; junior vice commander, Leroy Cowart, Statesboro; chaplain, John Hogan, Savannah; commander, Miss Elizabeth Grimes, Atlanta; state treasurer, James A. Bankston, Atlanta. Asa W. Candier of Atlanta was elected national committeeman; Heyward Hesch, Gainesville, alternate national committeeman. Mrs. Boyce Ficklin, Jr., was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary for Georgia.

To Teach Flag Rules in All Texas Schools

Standard flag rules are to be taught in all the schools in the state of Texas, as a result of a campaign waged by the Texas department of the American Legion for the introduction into the schools of a flag etiquette code. Flag etiquette is to be made a part of the course in civics. The state textbook commission authorized the adoption of the flag code following the appearance before it recently of the state commander of the Legion, who submitted the code to the commission along with arguments showing why it should be adopted.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SECURITY B. & L. ASSOCIATION HELD

The first annual meeting of the stock holders of the Security Building and Loan Association was held on the evening of August 11th, and was quite well attended showing the interest which the share holders have in the progress of this youngest building and loan organization in this vicinity. The secretary's report showed a most healthy condition of affairs in every particular. There has been a consistent demand for loan money throughout the year and the association's funds are still working all the time. The stockholders approved of the manner in which the affairs of their association were being handled by re-electing the old Board of Directors for the ensuing year. It was also decided to issue the third series of stock at this time. Subscriptions are limited to five share per person and may be made to the Secretary, A. K. Staver, at the Clearfield Trust Co. The first payment on this series is due Tuesday, August 28th.

W. C. T. U. NEWS

Yesterday the W. C. T. U. made their annual visit and held the usual service at the County Home, hoping to make a little brighter the lives of the people there.

The meeting opened with singing with accompaniment of organ and hymns by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Swales.

Prayer by Rev. Gibson, who also gave an excellent scripture talk basing it upon the feeding of the multitude. In his usual impressive way he held the close attention of his audience. After singing another number the County President LaRue M. Chorpenn was called upon and talked somewhat of the work of the Temperance forces at home and abroad, partly taking as examples of work done and doing, two foreign girls in attendance at State Y. P. B. Convention last year. One from the Philippines and this year one from Japan, who are being educated in this country with the express purpose of teaching temperance in their own countries.

Following more music, the distribution of sweets, and flowers took place in the chapel and later in the different wards.

Mrs. Bowman, wife of the new Steward, invited the Union to come again next year.
